

I stopped listening to commercial radio many years ago. I became a listener of public broadcasting. Last year I became aware of xm satellite radio and since that time have listened 100% to xm. Since i am willing to pay the monthly fees for two radios i believe i should have the right to unlimited listening experiences. Possibly it is time for traditional broadcast radio to go the way of the buggy whip. If they cannot compete they should not be allowed to stifle the competition.